Werebelushi:
Hello, Werebelushi here.

Bonzi:
And Bonzi.

Werebelushi:
And you're probably wondering why I rebooted my show and why there aren't so many rants, because well in 2022 I was unfortunately dragged into talking about those transformation episodes even though I did not want to and it was taxing on my sanity and also preventing me from talking about things I actually like. Due to the character behind said fictional works somehow deciding to make both Nathan and Mel their enemy in that year I was left with having to tackle those very specific things because the Almighty Producers - i.e the powerful beings that decide what I reviewed every week tended to be cruel to me sometimes.

Sometimes i'd get a good topic to talk about and other times it's 'the misadventures of edgy furry animal-boy getting TFed by a deranged edgy animal-girl-villain' and believe me those got real tiresome and real predictable real fast. Oh look, the animal-boy OC is not understanding how his body is transforming even though he should know because it's a transformation episode, and you know how those go. Yeah sometimes i'd be lucky and get one without MC and those are the only saving graces and sometimes i'd get one where the characters are aware that this keeps happening and are pissed off because they got transformed.

And yeah i've pointed out before that it's kind of sexist to have a character who is blatantly female (or trans) force others into being hyper feminine and have them dress up as maids or sexy team rocket drones. Yeah about those, the major issue is hybristophilia. I am aware organizations like evil teams in Pokemon are fictional but I lump it under hybristophilia anyway because it is very much like real life organized crime that is being sexualized.

A major issue we've had with them is the costumes, they look like stripper outfits, they look like those sexy halloween costumes you see in costume shops like Sexy Firefighter, Sexy Burn Victim, Sexy Freddy Krueger, Sexy Vampire, etc. I just find that female characters objectifying their own gender especially characters of their own gender, is very hypocritical, it's like a black writer (yeah I said black as opposed to African American) writing about people of their own ethnicity being enslaved. And also it does not make me an incel. That would imply that I do not have a girlfriend when I canonically have dated tons of women.

And the complaints I got for these reviews…ugh, I debuted my show way back in the early 2010s where every critic on the internet was inspired by Channel Awesome, I was originally meant to have my show on there and that '1941' review I did was supposed to be the pilot episode to get my show on that site but that never happened. And yeah a lot of my opinions from back then do not reflect me now, like for example my early rants on television where I specifically only talked about kids channels specifically Nickelodeon and Disney Channel as well as talking about reruns, and yeah I was well aware that Hannah Montana only existed to make Miley Cyrus famous and also to make money, but I was specifically referring to one incident where I was looking through a toy store or second hand shop and found High School Musical merchandise. And my prison rant, yeah I got Clockwork Orange and Cool Hand Luke mixed up and combined them with Full Metal Jacket, I made mistakes, I made a lot of mistakes back then and really I was just doing the 'angry reviewer' schtick just because it was the common thing for reviewers to do it back in the 2010s.

And well a lot of my old rants I now don't agree with, yeah I still do not like painful transformations when they're overdone or MC in general and yeah, the almighty producers were the ones who told me to review those transformation episodes and complain about them, because they saw Mel's review on the Changed related episodes and they decided…'let's get Werebelushi an arch enemy even though he already has several' and that is how it happened.

And don't get me wrong these episodes would have been perfect material for me to riff on but as mentioned - they were just so repetitive in terms of plot, insert-edgy-OC does something that triggers a forced transformation and sometimes the creature behind the transformation (often a non-existent in any universe troublemaker) would do it and force them to have their mind erased and said troublemaker never got their comeuppance and bla bla bla same old same old.

I did not ask to talk about those, it was never my intention to do so, I try to point out…'hey, this is a persona i'm doing, these are fictional reviewers, not real life. I am not attacking real people for their opinions', but some people just do not understand this very specific thing and act like i'm in the wrong and some…well…yeah i'm sorry but even though some people do have good points, I don't think someone who does NSFW transformation episodes should be calling the stuff I was reviewing 'tame' by any mean, but hey, at least that's only on their other online universe channel and not the one I do my reviews on. And there was the whole thing about 'celebrity tfs' being written without permission and I didn't get that one either, because even if it's about a real person it's still technically fanfiction, and I don't think any celebrities in the stories Nathan or Mel write about needed to give permission for them to use it.

And also yeah due to what happened during that specific timeframe of 2022 it got very hard for me to find words that were alternatives for 'that inappropriate thing a predatory adult does with a child' without pussifying the word in general, I just wanted to point out that it's stupid that one little completely SFW roleplay from like years ago was viewed as this despite any and evidence of those roleplays and stories being entirely removed by the creator, it happened in the past, and it should have been forgotten about. I did not ask to be involved in this and none of us asked to be 'enemies' with anyone whether they be fictional characters or actual people that exist IRL, but somehow it happened and looking back it was very ridiculous.

It is ridiculous that there are people that will believe rumors like that true. Even people that used to be friends with our channel have been like that towards rumors, like all of a sudden they jump ship and turn on you just like that just because they have been told that you are a bad person by someone they don't even know, like are they really your friends if they are so quick to side with these people?

Bonzi:
And it happened with my Storytime with Bonzi segments specifically the dum dum stories with complaints about them being pseudo revenge fics, does these people not know that revenge fics are usually directed at fictional characters the author hates and not real people, by real people I mean people who actually exist in real life who are actual famous people not randos you meet on the internet who you only encountered once. And a lot of the complaints were specifically 'oh the dum dums are gross fetish material' 'Bonzi has a fart and milk fetish', when that was nothing to do with me, that was very much just how dum dum were-aykroyd work, they have weird biology.

As in they don't age and have body maturation mutation stages where they grow bigger and bigger and females get a special version of this that gives them very specific 'urges' and feelings develop where they start wanting to be a parent, and I demonstrated just that in the stories. Yeah, the birthing scenes are extreme and gross and i'm sorry if you got offended by them but…sorry, nope, not censoring a birth scene that demonstrates the 'alien-like' biology of this species, all you tokophobes out there are going to need to get your phobia treated.

These stories are tame compared to the countless trashy animal transformations i've seen that almost always end on a non-morphic or feral result and if it's an animal like hippos, pigs, or cows there's a lot of weight gain and of course fart fetish stuff. A lot of my stories are tame compared to those, at least i'm not doing breeding scenes in them. I was told this was for all audiences.

Piff:
I could not agree more, we are living in a generation that is too afraid to address serious topics without recoiling in disgust, I have to censor battle scenes in episodes i'm in due to some people think these are 'revenge' scenes focused on people that they think don't deserve revenge at them at all, add to that all the 'this is slop''Did AI write this?' bullcrap these got sometimes, I mean these are REAL and made by actual living beings and not machines, and if you cannot handle real honest feelings and real honest to Triton words on such issues, then why are you even online? Why are these people so online if they get so easily ego-bruised and triggered every day? Why do they not know the difference between fiction and reality.

I don't care if you like those fake werecreature transformations that look like rejected Homestuck OCs that are hyper gory and violent, if you act like we are the monsters for disagreeing with you, maybe you should have considered posting them someone else.

Werebelushi:
I was accused of being transphobic in 2022 just because I did not know what bigender meant and I have apologized since then. I am not against gays, if someone who is gay is mean or bitchy towards me or my friends, that's a them problem and nothing to di with their sexuality, I am not against ‘trans’ people, just fake ‘this character is trans’ headcanons for canonical male or female characters. I have never been racist in my life, and about that Candyman story, that was about a FICTIONAL villainess turning into an African American character and said character was CAUCASIAN. If I have had a beef with anyone in this universe who is of an ethnicity and they were nothing but whiny and horrible towards me or others, it’s not their race that is the problem, it’s their attitude. Anyone can be prickly and entitled in this day and age, and anyone can cause drama for no reason at all other than they want you to be their enemy, they think that making you their enemy will make them be in the right by comparison, they are egotistical, they are narcissistic, aggressive and just don’t know when to shut up.

Piff:
I could not agree more on that, like do they even have lives of their own outside of trying to make you the villain of their own deluded fantasies or do they just really want to be seen as the good guy in their world, a world you did not ask to even join to begin with. This generation gets offended so easily that I cannot believe i’m saying this, but…grow up, please, the slavery thing was a joke in a story that was referring to a fictional Tales From The Crypt fanfic, the character WAS an African American character who is a FICTIONAL character, not a real person. Look, just watch the episode ‘Fitting Punishment’, that’s the episode the character is from.

Bonzi:
We are all deeply sorry you got offended over a bunch of fictional content but maybe this should be a sign.

Werebelushi:
And also that means we think that should all..

All:
Grow up and grow a pair!